2. THE 8 PROTECTION PRINCIPLES APPLICABLE TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES

WellsFaber is a Responsible Party in terms of POPIA and has Data Protection Policies and procedures in place for the protection of all Personal Information. WellsFaber implemented the required controls and employs up to date technology to ensure the protection, confidentiality, integrity and availability of the Personal Information that it processes.

The application of the 8 Protection Principles within WellsFaber as Responsible Party to ensure the protection of Personal Information are set out below:

2.1 Accountability:

This principle contemplates the assigning of responsibility by the Responsible Party to oversee and ensure compliance with the POPIA requirements.

- The Board appointed an Information Officer (“IO”) who must register with the Information Regulator who is responsible to implement and oversee POPIA within the Responsible Party.
- The Responsible Party is responsible to audit the processes used to collect, record, store, disseminate and destroy Personal Information: in particular, ensure the integrity and safekeeping of Personal Information in possession or under control.
- The Responsible Party must take steps to prevent the information being lost or damaged, or unlawfully processed or accessed.
- The Responsible Party must ensure that staff is properly trained on a regular basis to ensure that they understand their responsibilities and the consequences of non-compliance with POPIA.

2.2 Processing Limitation:

Personal Information may only be processed by the Responsible Party:

- if it is done lawfully.
- in a manner that does not infringe the privacy of the Data Subject.
- if adequate, relevant and not excessive given the purpose.
- if consent was obtained or it was necessary. If consent was obtained from the Data Subject, then such consent must be voluntary and specific.

2.3 Purpose Specification:

Purpose Specification is important to determine the scope within which Personal Information may be processed by a Responsible Party. The Responsible Party is required to:

- define the purpose of the Personal Information gathering and processing clearly;
- collect only the necessary information;
- indicate that it is collected for a specific, explicitly defined and lawful purpose; and
- be clear to whom the information is transferred.

Personal information must be destroyed, deleted or ‘de-identified’ as soon as the purpose for collecting the information has been achieved. This requirement may be subject to other legislation such as FAIS and FICA with 5-year record keeping requirements applicable to the financial services industry.

There are further restrictions on the transfer of Personal Information out of South Africa and to transfer Personal Information back into South Africa. The applicable restrictions will depend on the laws of the country to whom the data is transferred or from where the data is returned. The Responsible Party is required to assess the applicable laws.

2.4 Further Processing limitation:

Once the Responsible Party has identified and obtained consent for specific, legitimate and explicitly defined purposes, then Personal Information cannot be processed contrary to the purpose for which it was collected. The processing of such Personal Information may only occur insofar as it is necessary for the fulfilment of the purpose.

If information is received via a third party for further processing, then this further processing must be compatible with the purpose for which the data was initially collected, otherwise further consent must be obtained.

2.5 Information quality:

The Responsible Party must ensure and maintain the quality of the Personal Information that it processes. It must therefore:

- take reasonably practicable steps to ensure that the Personal Information is complete, accurate and updated.
- consider obtaining a warranty from Data Subjects to ensure that the Personal Information is correct and updated.

2.6 Openness required:

The Responsible Party is required to notify the Information Regulator of the applicable data subject groups that the information is used for e.g. financial services category.

The Responsible Party has a duty to process Personal Information in a fair and transparent manner and must take steps to notify the Data Subject whose Personal information is being processed that this is being done together with reasons. The Data Subject must be informed about the purpose and from what source his Personal Information was obtained:

- the name and address of the company processing the Personal Information.
- whether the provisioning of the Personal Information is voluntary or mandatory.

2.7 Security safeguards:

Personal Information should be kept secure against the risk of loss, unauthorised access, interference, modification, destruction or disclosure.

The Responsible Party is required to secure the integrity of personal information by taking appropriate, reasonable technical and organisational measures to prevent:

- loss, damage, unauthorised access; and
- unlawful access or processing of Personal Information.

The Responsible Party must take all reasonable measures to:

- Identify all reasonably foreseeable internal and external risks.
- Establish and maintain appropriate safeguards against the risks.
- Regularly verify that the safeguards are adequately implemented.
- Ensure the safeguards are continually updated in response to new risks or deficiencies in previously implemented safeguards.

The Responsible Party must oversee an Operator who processes data on his/her behalf. The Responsible Party must be aware of the following:

- The Operator must treat information confidentially.
- The Responsible Party must ensure that the operator establishes and maintains appropriate security safeguards.
- ALL processing by an operator must be governed by a written contract.
- In the event of security breaches, the Responsible Party must notify the Regulator and the data subject.

2.8 Participation:

POPIA allows for Data Subjects to make certain requests, free of charge, to organisations that holds their Personal Information. Data Subjects may request access to or records of their Personal Information and/or request the correction or deletion of any Personal Information held by it. Data Subjects may also request that inaccurate, misleading or outdated Personal Information be updated and has the right to know the identity of all third parties that have had access to their information.
